

Dr. Glenn Tanner

Texas State University - San Marcos
Finance and Economics
(512) 245-3311
Email: gt10@txstate.edu

Education

- Ph D, University of Washington, 1994.
Major: Finance
Dissertation Title: Economic News and Exchange Rate Determinants
- MBA, University of North Texas, 1989.
Major: Finance
- BBA, Southern Methodist University, 1988.
Major: Business

Professional Positions

Academic - Post-Secondary

- Visiting Associate Professor, University of Texas. (2003 - Present).
- Associate Professor, Department of Finance and Economics, Texas State University-San Marcos. (2002 - Present).

Licensures and Certifications

- Real Estate Salesperson License, State of Texas.

Professional Memberships

- American Real Estate Society.
- Financial Management Association.
- Southern Finance Association.
- Southwestern Finance Association.

TEACHING

Teaching Experience

Texas State University - San Marcos

- BA 5352, Financial Perspective of the Firm, 3 courses.
- FIN 3312, Business Finance, 10 courses.
- FIN 3313, FINANCIAL MGMT, 1 course.
- FIN 3316, Financial Information Technologies, 13 courses.
- FIN 4380A, Advance Capital Budgeting, 4 courses.

Awards and Honors

Department Award for Excellence in Teaching. (May 2, 2012).

RESEARCH

Published Intellectual Contributions

Refereed Journal Articles

Tanner, G. (2014). THE LOW-VOLATILITY ANOMALY: Does It Work In Practice? Economics and Finance Review, 3(8), 10-16.

Tanner, G., Payne, J. (2011). Experiential Learning and Finance: A Hands-On Approach to Financial Modeling. Journal of Financial Education(Fall/Winter 2010).

Moon, K., Tanner, G. (2010). "Using Mortgage Rates to Explain Risk Premiums in an Introductory Finance Course". Journal of Instructional Techniques in Finance.

Presentations Given

Tanner, G., Payne, J., Financial Education Association Annual Meeting, "Experiential Learning in Finance," Academy of Business Education, San Antonio, TX. (October 2, 2010).

Research in Progress

"The Low-Volatility Anomaly: Does it Work in Practice?" (Writing Results)
An examination of whether low-volatility portfolios consistently produce higher risk-adjusted returns. Findings suggest the anomaly continues to thrive although diversification benefits are limited.

SERVICE

Department Service

Attendee, Meeting, Bobcat Days.

Attendee, Meeting, Scholars Days.

University Service

Faculty Mentor, Athletic Mentoring.

Faculty Advisor, Texas Oil and Gas Association, Student Chapter. (November 1, 2013 - Present).

Academic Standards Committee. (June 1, 2013 - Present).

Professional Service

Reviewer, Ad Hoc Reviewer, International Review of Economics and Finance.

Reviewer, Ad Hoc Reviewer, Journal of Financial Education.

Editorial Review Board Member, International Interdisciplinary Business-Economics Advancement Journal. (November 1, 2014 - Present).

Validator of Loan Return Model, Farm Credit Bank of Texas. (November 1, 2014 - January 15, 2015).

Public Service

Member, Wimberley United Methodist Church Education Council.